- According to the findings of a study conducted by Wainhouse Research, commissioned by Citrix Online, 51% of 533 respondent trainers believe webinars are more or just as effective as in-person trainings or workshops, and another 36% believe webinars are almost as effective.

“ The live webinar option was perfect for our company. With so many of our branch managers located in regions that do not have a public class, we were able to train the rest of our managers through the online (Blueprints for Managers Course) class. ”

4. The important responsibility of being a Manager at your organization

“A manager develops people”

Through the way we manage we make it easy or difficult for them to develop themselves. We direct people or misdirect them. We bring out what is in them or we stifle them. We strengthen their integrity or we corrupt them. We train them to stand upright and strong or we deform them... Whether we know it or not.”
